RAVING MAN FLOODS JAIL, WRECKS CELL

BERKELEY, Feb. 18.—Wrecking a cell in which he was confined and flooding the police station with water, John George, a dishwasher, became violently insane shortly before 8 o'clock this morning and gave battle to six members of the Berkeley police department.

Smashing a wash bowl, George hurled pieces of the heavy material through the bars of his cell, shattering windows in the squad room of the police station just beyond. He wrenched loose water pipes, flooding his cell and the remainder of the rear portion of the station with more than two inches of water.

Sergeant O. E. Putscher, in charge of the station at the time, sought to pacify George but received missiles hurled from the cell as a reply. With the arrival of Sergeant Charles Becker and other men of the first detail, George was persuaded to leave his cell. It required six men to place him in a straight jacket. Later George was taken to the receiving hospital in Oakland by Police Officer George Kohler and W. J. Wilson, the latter swearing out a warrant charging him with insanity. Others assisting in overpowering the insane man were Patrolmen Frank Sprain, H. P. Le, and Henry Villa.

George was taken into custody shortly after 11 o'clock last night after R. R. Stevenson, roomer in the same house with him, reported to the police that the former was raving on the porch and threatening to set alarm clock. Policeman Swain found George in an intoxicated condition.

Clubwoman Champions Hen; Only Rooster Noisy, Claim

BERKELEY, Feb. 18.—The female of the species may be more deadly than the male, but she isn't half as noisy.

At least so avers Mrs. William E. Colby, Berkeley club woman, of 2901 Channing way.

It isn't man that Mrs. Colby has her grudge against. It's only his sex as personified in the noisy, arrogant lord of the farmyard.

In a letter received yesterday by Mayor Louis Bartlett, Mrs. Colby objects to the persecution of the busy hen as a penalty for the noisiness of the non-producing rooster. Her communication is a plea against any legislation which would not be beneficial in residential sections of the city to keep chickens as a means of combating the high cost of living.

Roosters she classes as a "disturbance" and "nuisance."

Not only do they disturb residents but they divert the hens from their business of egg-laying.

"A rooster is not necessary to the success of a small back yard henery," reads Mrs. Colby's communication of the male of the species. "The hens lay better if there is no rooster in the flock and the eggs keep better. Hens are not noisy. One must be very sensitive indeed to object to their daytime cackling."

Mrs. Colby has entered her plea with the mayor in behalf of four hens in her backyard. She cites as a further reason why they should be allowed to remain the fact that at the prevailing price of eggs and broilers they netted her $35 in the past year. Previously city ordinances forbade the keeping of fowl in the neighborhood east of Telegraph avenue and south of the university. It is against further extension of legislation of this kind that the club leader is objecting to.

Conferees Urge Big Fund To Save Lines from Loss

from $10,000 to $12,000 in annual salary.

The commission's increased powers include the following:

Supervision over the issuance of railroad securities; the commission's approval being required before a railroad can issue stock or bonds.

Establishment of minimum rail rates, the commission up to this time having had only power to establish maximum rates. This power will enable it to prevent a carrier from conducting "cut throat" competition.

Authority to make such direction with respect to car service in times of emergency as will best promote the service in the public's interest.

Authority to compel the joint or common use of terminals; to give preference for preference or priority in transportation embargo or movement of traffic under permits.

Approval of new construction or abandonment of railroads.

Complete control over the railroad operation, through the United States "in case of war or threatened war" (the bill provides) will be centered in the commission, which would have powers similar to those now exercised by the railroad administration.

S. F. Grand Jury to Resume Police Quiz

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Grand jury investigation into the shooting of Edward C. Kelly by Edward Woodcock is expected to be concluded this evening and the way cleared for an uninterrupted continuation of the probe into alleged police court irregularities. A new call to all of the judges to explain the reasons for actions taken in specific instances is said to be coming. This jury has dropped the proceedings against Attorney Russell W. Cantrell, after investigation of charges made by Mrs. Mary Silva of Oakland who said he accepted a fee after the conviction of Willard Cantrell said that he was in payment of services in an effort to save Watkins from being sent to the state penitentiary after conviction.

Woman Blamed by Man Who Ends Life

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—"My reason for committing suicide is all over a woman; namely, Violet P. Fowler."

This note was found in the pocket of Charles J. Wall, 245 Leavenworth street, after he had died of the effects of a dose of poison swallowed in a cafeteria at Powell street. With Wall in the restaurant was a woman who gave the name Mrs. Elizabeth Woods, 430 Leavenworth street. She said that Wall had proposed to her and that she had refused him and that he then took the poison.

Concealed Weapons Charge Is Dismissed

Dying Burglar Writes to Mother "I'm Not a Bad Boy," Last Words

BAY POINT, Feb. 18.—"Mother, I am not a bad boy; honest, I am not. This was my first job, and if it had not been for the wine I would never have done it. I met the other fellow two days ago in Jeffries' lunch room. He was a San Francisco fellow, like I was, and I went with him."

"Last night he said, 'Let's go, and I went with him. That is how easy it was.'"

"I don't remember what we did, but I do thank God that I was accorded the mercy of seeing the priest instead of dying out there in the street. I never hurt anybody, and oh, God, you don't know how glad I am it turned out this way instead of me hurting that policeman. Oh, it is awful to think what it might have been."

"My only sorrow now is you, mother. You were always such a dear, good mother, and now you will think I have disgraced you. Oh, I wish I could see you now! Charlie."

That was the dying message of Charles Reilly, former San Francisco four-round boxer, former shipyard worker, who was shot fatally by a policeman in Los Angeles during an attempted burglary last week.

He was formerly a resident of Martinez and for some time an employee of the Bay Point shipyard. He also appeared in the Martinez boxing arena.

The letter was dictated in a weak voice to a newspaperman who sat beside the boy until death ended the tragedy.

Charles Reilly was the son of James J. Reilly, employee of the National Ice and Cold Storage Company in San Francisco. Six or seven years ago he was a boxer of sufficient "class" to win, lose and draw in three bouts with Willie Ritchie, later world's champion lightweight.

Last fall Reilly went on strike with the shipyard workers. As the strike dragged on he lost heart. Shortly after Christmas he disappeared from the little home at 213 Circular avenue, in the Mission.

PRESIDENT GETS REPLY OF ALLIES

Italy than lose the future cooperation of America.

CAUTION URGED IN SUBMITTING REPLY

Nearly all the press emphasized this point, urging utmost caution in the Allied reply. The Globe summed up conversation opinion by asserting that in their anxiety to satisfy the aspirations of Italy and Jugoslavians, Great Britain and France for a time seemed to have forgotten America's interest in the Balkans.

It is "touchy," the newspaper said, adding the Allies would "find it wise to reckon with that fact."

"Italy is nothing to us," the newspaper continued, "whereas good relations with the United States are everything. They are the cornerstone of our foreign policy. The future of humanity largely depends upon their maintenance and we are not going to quarrel with America over a two-penny strip of Dalmatia."

COUNCIL URGES LOW INSURANCE

Initial steps to secure a reduction of fire insurance rates for Oakland were taken by the City Council today in the adoption of a resolution asking for the reduction from the Pacific Coast Board of Fire Underwriters and the submission by that board to the council of a statement of the amounts paid for losses and received in premiums during the past five years.

The move was made at the request of the Merchants' Exchange, which presented to the council today a statement suggesting the step in view of the fact that no reduction of rates has been allowed despite the fact that fire protection has been improved to the highest degree.

In some instances, according to the communication from the Exchange, the rates have not only remained stationary but have been even increased, regardless of the installation of the salt water pumping plants, the inauguration of the two-alarm system and the motorization of the fire department.

In support of the petition Secretary Wilbur Walker of the Exchange addressed the council with a statement showing a blanket increase of 10 per cent in fire insurance rates in the state, and an absolute absence of any regulation.

In suggesting the adoption of the body's plan, Commissioner F. F. Morse stated that the city should have some return for the money spent in raising the efficiency of the fire department, and that statistics show the city is not being fairly treated.

CITY EMPLOYEES' RAISE FAVORED

Recommendations for salary increases for employees in different departments in the municipal service were adopted by the Civil Service Board at a meeting last night. Most of the increases suggested are in accordance with the increased wage scales paid by private employers for similar work according to the board members.

The recommendations call for increases from $150 to $200 a month for electrical, building and plumbing inspectors, and for salaries of $225 a month for chief inspectors. Wiremen employed intermittently in the school department are recommended for an increase from $8 to $9 a day.

The further suggestion is made that assistant superintendents of parks, construction foremen and nurserymen and florists in the park department be increased $10 a month. The various recommendations will be submitted by the Civil Service Board to the heads of the departments involved.

The assignment of Inspector Bodie Wallman to the position of acting captain in charge of the central station was approved by the board last night.

Bonar Law Refutes 'Harsh' Reply Tale

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEARNED WIRE TO BRIDGE.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Andrew Bonar Law, government spokesman, speaking in the House of Commons today, denied reports that the allies at first drafted a harsh, uncompromising reply to President Wilson's Adriatic note. Everybody in the government understands the supreme importance of a good understanding with the United States, Bonar Law declared. His statements were in reply to a question by Sir Edward W. Carson, who asked for an explanation of reports that a brusque reply to the President's note was drafted immediately after its receipt and later changed when Viscount Grey and Lord Curzon intervened.

Wolves Invade Duluth: Citizens Shoot and Trap

(By Associated Press.)
DULUTH, Minn., Feb. 18.—For a week a wolf pack has invaded nightly the western end of Duluth, and not until last night did trappers for the pack, succeed in killing one, wounding another, and trapping a third of the pack of twelve.

Policemen fitted with snowshoes and rifles prowled the district of Fortieth Avenue, West and Eighth streets for nearly a week, and although they saw the pack drift up and down nearby streets, failed to get a shot at the wolves.

PIERCE ARROW "The First Fifty"

TRUCK NO. 19.

Day in and day out since 1911 Truck No. 19 has been used by the Pabst Brewing Company of Milwaukee for city beer delivery. It has not quite reached the 50,000-mile mark because of the short-haul nature of its work, but age does not interfere with its dependability. During all these years it has missed only 30 days of operation through mechanical trouble. Part of this period was consumed in repairs following a street car collision, and part during an overhauling. The repair bill during the entire life of the truck stands less than $500.

No more impressive proof can be cited in support of the statement that Truck No. 19 proved Pierce-Arrow superiority. The satisfaction of the Pabst Company that the fact that the brewery has standardized on Pierce-Arrow equipment. Twenty-three five-tonners now are operated.

DREDGING IN CITY HARBOR WILL GO ON

According to a telegram received by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce this morning from Managing Director Joseph E. Caine, who is in Washington, the work of dredging Oakland inner harbor will not be interfered with through the reduction of more than 150 per cent in the rivers and harbors appropriation bill by Congress.

When the House recently cut the appropriation for harbor work from the estimate of $42,531,565, as made by the army engineers, to $12,400,000, the Chamber of Commerce immediately wired Caine, who is a congressman from California, and called upon the chief of the army engineers, receiving the assurance that Oakland's inner harbor would be properly maintained until an appropriation could be obtained from Congress.

TAX REFORM IS PROPOSED FOR ESTATE CASES

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 18.—Cooperation between Federal and State authorities to eliminate "double taxation" of inheritances is sought by State Controller John S. Chambers in a letter to Secretary of the Treasury David F. Houston, made public here yesterday.

Controller Chambers called attention to a resolution by the National Tax Association declaring that taxation of inheritance was primarily a State function and that the Federal Government should not encroach upon this source of revenue.

The letter says:

"As a fair solution of the problem, I would suggest that estates worth from $10,000,000 down be left to the administration of the states, and estates above that sum to the Federal Government.

"There is no question in my mind that the smaller estates can be handled more expeditiously and at far less cost to the states. In the matter of the very large estates, with ramifications in many states, there is no doubt, considering the large number of such estates, that the Federal Government can be reached to better advantage now by the Federal Government than by the states.

"Under such circumstances, a division of the $70,000,000 line of demarcation is certainly fair, if not rather to the disadvantage of the states.

"The matter of double taxation, first, by a state, and second, by the Federal Government, and, as frequently happens, by several states, thus bringing about treble, and even quadruple taxation, is a rank injustice to the estates. In the name of fairness, such a situation should be broken up."

Price Increases Are Announced in London

LONDON, Feb. 18.—An actual and prospective increase in prices announced yesterday includes one penny to two pence increase on cigars and an ounce of tobacco, and a half penny increase on a package of ten cigarettes. Sewing cotton is increased 2 1/2 pence a reel.

The recent increase in the price of petrol which caused a one-day strike of taxicab drivers, is expected to bring an announcement of higher fares today when the home secretary will receive a deputation representing the taxi men.

In consequence of the increase in railway freights the belief is growing that parcels post charges will be raised soon. The postal employees demanded higher wages involving an aggregate of about $11,000,000 yearly and it is expected that a half penny extra will be placed on letter postage.

Young Man Hit by Auto in Berkeley

BERKELEY, Feb. 18.—William Ramsey, 15-year-old employee of the Hercules Powder company, received abrasions of the knees this morning when run into by an automobile driven by Howard F. Topping of Richmond at Brighton street and San Pablo avenue, Albany. Ramsey was standing beside his motorcycle when injured. Topping, who was traveling about 15 miles an hour, according to witnesses, took him to Roosevelt hospital.

S. F. Mardi Gras Is Marked By Splendor and Romance

Straight from the page of romance, with the splendor of jewels and tapestries, satins and laces, with music and high carnival, San Francisco celebrated its Mardi Gras last night with the spirit which has not been quenched by years nor sadness nor tragedies. This day of the early California when Spanish grandees reigned were brought forth from the dim past and set within the pet charity of the city, might, the Children's Hospital, the pet charity of the city, might have confidence that its work should be continued uninterrupted for another year. Society and those who do not boast of membership in that charmed realm put off every-day work as knights and ladies, and clowns and bathing girls, met and mingled in the democracy of festival.

Jack Neville, whom Oakland knew in his younger days, was monarch for the night, with his lovely Marie, Queen Juanita. It was to the gay strains of the Toreador from "Carmen" that the royal party entered the vast hall with its forest of eucalyptus, cedar and redwood and its streamers of carnival colors—crimson, black and gold. Came first the mission vegetable and wine vendors, and then the clowns, clowns and wide sombrero, leading the donkey whose sides bulged with huge baskets followed with fruits and vegetables. Followed the tall monks in brown robes, and then the Corbett Moody, William Devereux, Harold Cooke and Bernard Ford, Willard Brown Jr., Harold Stephenson, Laurie Harold and Willard Brown, who were the first to introduce a unique feature into the procession. In gold brocade with bright green and cavalier hat, King Jack made his regal way followed by his Spanish courtiers, William L. Harrison, Alfred Hendrickson, Arthur Hill Vincent and Algonquin Gibson.

SPECTACLE GORGEOUS. Pink and white fruit bouquets hid the faces of the young ladies. Juanita was borne along, a laughing, care-free royal personage, by whom walked her ladies in waiting, Mrs. Corbett Moody, Mrs. Samuel F. E. Moore, Miss Marion Tucker and Mrs. William Mayo Newhall. Gorgeously in stiff satins, wonderful shawls and flaming jewels, the group might have stepped from some old Spanish painting. Girls of the Spanish court numbering some of the most popular society maids and matrons of the city and peninsula, vied with each other in the glory of their costumes resurrected from the chests of their great grandmothers. No consumer's theatrical creation were these, but the real art revived from an older age.

With hundreds of gay plumed dancers crowding the floor there still was no hesitation by the judges when the award for the most beautiful gown worn at the ball was presented to Mrs. Stewart Haldorn, a cerise satin combined with gold brocade, contributing to the charm of the Spanish costume with which was worn loop earrings and large lacquer comb in hair piled high after the period. As a Russian princess in cloth of gold robe with trimmings of sable and head dress and jewels of gold and pearls, Mrs. Paul Verdelier easily took the second mention.

Willis Polk as a Spanish Don and Marie, a Spanish girl, were the only couple to receive mention from the judges.

EASTBAY REPRESENTED. The abode of Stella, a dance hall with Waikiki beach, and a royal purple tent were wonderful features were told were side features which supplemented the coffers and the notes of merriment. Colonel Thornehill Mullally said to it that no dancers in conventional dress broke into the carnival picture. Belles of the Eastbay cities were generally represented among the throng of pleasure makers. Miss Blilla Adams in Spanish costume of yellow and crimson hid under a beautiful emerald shawl draped in the confiture, was conspicuously lovely.

A short spangled skirt was hid under a wonderful shawl which belonged to her grandmother's troupe in the Spanish dress which Miss Vere de Vere Adams wore. Miss Ernestine Adams made a charming Spanish maid in a steel blue gown with which was worn a black velvet cape. Miss Winifred Pfaden wore the short skirt and bolero of the Spanish period. A handsome Chinese costume in red and green with a bridal head-dress of jade, pearls and roses was worn by Miss Margaret Doubleday. Mrs. Adolph Uhl appeared in Spanish costume, a black velvet hat and white with black velvet hat. Miss Elizabeth Magee wore an evening gown of self pink and iridescent spangles.

Would Give Congress Power To Act When President Is Ill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—A constitutional amendment giving Congress and the Supreme Court joint power to authorize the Vice-President or the ranking cabinet officer to assume the duties of the President during a disability of the chief executive has been prepared by Representative D. Fess of Ohio, for introduction in the House today.

Fess would have the constitution amended so that Congress might, by concurrent resolution, declare that the President is unable to serve after a finding of the facts by the Supreme Court. In case Congress was not in session when the President became disabled, the Fess amendment would give the Vice-President power to call it into special session for the purpose of determining whether the chief executive is able to function.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.

Lauer, secretary and treasurer of Bricks & Turvins, a million-dollar iron salvaging corporation, renewed his efforts to obtain his freedom today, aided by former United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis.

Lauer's arrest was caused by Charles Callier, the collector, who appeared at the income tax collecting headquarters with a roll of bills of large denomination, totaling $15,000, which he charged Lauer with having received in exchange for a schedule of income tax returns.

"That's only half of it," said Callier. "I was promised the other half."

REDWOOD LEAGUE MEETING PLANNED

Rallying to the support of the campaign to establish State and national parks in the big redwood forests of California, hundreds of motorists and nature lovers are preparing to attend the "Save the Redwoods" conference to be held Friday, February 27, at the Exposition Auditorium, San Francisco, in connection with the auto show.

Plans are to be perfected at the meeting, which is being sponsored by the "Save the Redwoods League," for a movement of national scope to protect the redwood tracts along the Northern California motor roads.

According to Professor Harold C. Bryant of the University of California, wide interest has been provoked by the announcement of Save the Redwoods day. Bryant is working with Dean John C. Merriam of the University of California, chairman of the executive committee of the Save the Redwoods League, to press the importance of the meeting upon all Californians. It is expected that the conference will adopt a program to nationalize the big redwoods.

Franklin K. Lane, president of the league, and Stephen T. Mather, superintendent of national parks, have been requested to attend the conference. The attention of the public is to be called to the importance of the disappearance of the redwoods in the face of increasing demands for lumber. Recent extension of the State highway system through Humboldt county has opened up virgin timber to commercial enterprise.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Five fifteen-gallon kegs purchased for $2500 by Victor Scatena, Laguna and Union streets, turned out to be water. Scatena says he was led into a lively stable, near Golden Gate park by seven young men, four of whom he had long known, that he was shown the kegs and allowed to smell them. Satisfied with the alcoholic aroma he paid the $2200. The alcohol, he found out, was poured on the wooden tops. When he demanded his money back Scatena says the young men threatened to kill him.

Interest Aroused in Daylight Saving Plan

The investigation started by Mayor Davies to obtain the sentiments of citizens in regard to a daylight saving ordinance is producing results and arousing keen public interest, according to a brochure being made up of the mayor's office.

Yesterday a communication was received from Bay Tree camp, No. 640, Woodmen of the World, announcing that the organization had passed a motion in favor of a daylight saving law. Other organizations and individuals have discussed the project informally, according to the mayor.

The plan under consideration is to put through a municipal daylight saving ordinance in this city if the majority of the citizens express themselves in favor of it.

Some of the cattle are near the point of starvation, it is said, and cattlemen are commencing to doubt if they can be moved to range in other states in time to save them.

According to official weather reports there are no indications of rain for some days to come at least. The outlook could change materially with the next forecast, but at present, with clear weather prevailing along the coast and well up to the northward, the prospects for change are quite remote.

PACT NECESSARY, PROFESSOR SAYS

It may not be this league of nations, but there must be devised some bond of international law which will lend definiteness to America's relations with Europe. Professor K. C. Leebrik of the history department of the University of California told the members of the Oakland Advertising Club at their weekly luncheon in the Hotel Oakland yesterday.

"America did not become conscious of herself as a world power until the Spanish-American war," Leebrik declared. "Now we are faced with the proposition that we must either isolate ourselves from Europe or act in harmony with European policies."

The policy of non-interference with European affairs taught by the Monroe doctrine can no longer apply to America's foreign affairs. The reason for this is that when the Monroe doctrine was formulated European powers were working for establishment of despotic governments while we were experimenting with the republican form. Now Europe has swung around and the European powers are working toward more liberality in form of government and the interests of America and Europe have become less divergent.

Leebrik insisted on the necessity of America's entrance into some international agreement without discussing the merits or faults of the league of nations covenant of the peace treaty.

HOME SHORTAGE IN COUNTRY IS NOW 1,000,000

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—There is a shortage of 1,000,000 homes in this country, speakers yesterday told delegates from fourteen national organizations affiliated with the building industry at a conference on concrete house construction.

Scarcity of brick and lumber would give an impetus to concrete house construction this year, it was predicted.

Johnson Returns to Congress, After Flu

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, who returned to the Senate yesterday after an illness of ten days, announced that he would go to North Dakota next week to address a delayed series of meetings.

CITY EXPERT WILL FIGURE ON MOTORS

Further efforts to bring about the complete motorization of the street department were made before the city council yesterday by Commissioner Baccus, with the result that action was taken indicating that the move will eventually be made.

All council members expressed themselves in favor of the motorization of the department as an efficiency and economy move and Norval W. Cook, municipal efficiency expert, was ordered to survey the needs of the department along the lines indicated.

Immediately afterward a resolution introduced by Baccus authorizing the purchase of ten motor trucks and ten horses in the department and quantities of equipment failed of adoption and was held for call pending the investigation by Cook.

Resistance to an appropriation of money for the purchase of two motor trucks was made by Commissioner Edwards, who objected to the expenditure of money in the middle of the fiscal year. In reply Baccus stated that he must either be furnished with the trucks or horses, but the council declined to take immediate action at this time.

Baccus presented a communication showing the loss of money and efficiency under the present system and the saving that would result from the purchase of motor equipment. Baccus asked for the purchase of two motor trucks now and four others later on.

With his communication Baccus submitted reports from Dr. C. C. Wing, city veterinarian, and Deputy Superintendent of Streets Eric showing the poor condition of the stock of the department.

HARKNESS' WILL PUZZLE THICKENS

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Statements by important figures in the contest between Mrs. Kennett Cowan, first wife, and Mrs. Florence S. Harkness, second wife and widow of Harry S. Harkness, a member of the millionaire sportsman, added to the mystery surrounding the execution of the hastily drawn will signed by Harkness the day of his death.

E. Palmer Lewis, Christian Science practitioner, said he and Miss Winifred D. Leonard, another Scientist, when summoned, found the millionaire delirious at 2:45 p. m. at day of his death. Remaining with Harkness until death came, Lewis said that the "death-bed" will was not signed between his arrival and 7:59 p. m., when Harkness died.

Lewis gave a vivid description of the scene in the magnificent Harkness apartments at 270 Park avenue, January 22.

"Mrs. Harkness begged me to come as her husband's life was despaired of and I might be of service. Thereupon I promised to come. I arrived at the apartment at 2:45 o'clock that afternoon."

"I found Miss Winifred D. Leonard, another practitioner, there. We were taken into the sick room."

"Harkness looked very ill. He was mumbling unintelligible words to himself."

"Dr. O'Connor was administering oxygen to the patient. He offered no objection when I began to treat Harkness."

"Later in the afternoon some one came in and told me a new serum was to be administered to Harkness."

"After an interval three men came in. I was told they were East Side physicians."

"They lighted a candle and burned the patient's wrist. They injected the serum into Harkness. This was very late in the afternoon."

"There was a noticeable change in the patient's condition after that. He sank rapidly and died at 8 o'clock. I remained until the end. I heard nothing of any will being signed."

"Did the men from the East Side have a crystal ball with them?"

"Lewis was asked."

"No," he replied. "Merely their syringes and serum. I think they were physicians."

What Your Kidneys Should Do For You

The kidneys are really filters, finely organized for their work of cleansing and purifying the blood, selecting and throwing out waste products which would act as poisons if permitted to remain in the system. When your kidneys are out of order, the impurities are not removed and remain to poison the system, causing backache, swollen or stiff joints, rheumatic pains, puffiness under the eyes, blotchy specks, biliousness, weakness and pale, waxy, dry skin.

WAS MISERABLE AND ALL TIED OUT

"I suffered with kidney trouble and have taken many kinds of medicine without getting relief. I used to have severe pains across my back and felt miserable and all tied out, but after taking Foley Kidney Pills I am well. I feel I have not been better with kidney trouble since taking the pills."—Mrs. C. J. Ellis, 505 8th Ave., Sioux Falls, S. D.

GREY ADVOCATES SENDING ENGLISH TO U. S. SCHOOLS

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Viscount Grey of Fallodon told the American Rhodes scholars who crossed the ocean as fellow passengers with him on the Adriatic on his return from his post as Ambassador to Washington that he hoped in time British scholars would go to American and Canadian universities as they were going to Oxford.

"I believe the more association of this kind there is the more the countries will find points of agreement with each other," he declared.

"You belong to the generation which is going to do the intellectual work and shape the thought and policy of the United States and Canada in the coming years. You will meet at Oxford some of those who are going to do the work together. Great Britain is forming some such friendships with British undergraduates and they with you, they will do something to help the countries on each side of the Atlantic to understand each other, to keep in touch and to like each other. It was the idea of each Rhodes that they should work together. This he believed to be for their own interest and for that of the world. Many of us think that is true and believe that the thing most necessary for the leading minds of each country to become acquainted with those of the others."

BETTER STREET PLEDGE IS WON

The appearance of a delegation of women from the Laurel school district in the Federation of Mothers' Clubs with a demand for the improvement of streets surrounding the school brought about a sharp session of the city council yesterday.

At the conclusion of a lengthy hearing a resolution introduced by Commissioner of Streets William J. Baccus calling for action providing for the improvements was laid on the table with the votes of Commissioners W. H. Edwards, F. F. Morse and Frederick Soderberg, and a resolution adopted pledging the council to appropriate money for the work in the next budget.

Complaint against the condition of streets in the neighborhood was made by the women, who declared that fifty children in the kindergarten classes were forced to wade through mud to their knees to get to the school on rainy days. All other streets in the neighborhood were improved, they claimed.

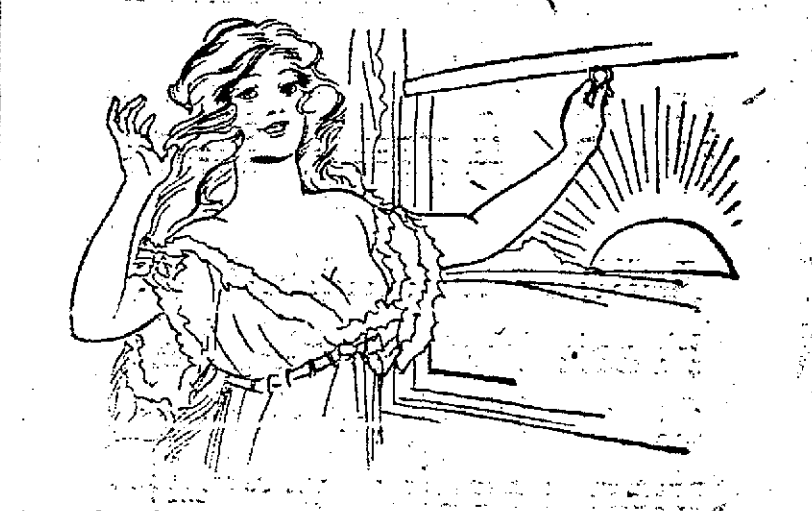

Commissioner Edwards led the opposition to the appropriation of money for the street work at this time on the ground that no preparation had been made in this year's budget for the work and that an appropriation at this time is not the proper method of doing business.

Commissioner Baccus explained that the work could be done at once and would not have to be paid for until next year, but his stand was overruled by the council majority, who took the attitude of Commissioner Edwards.

HAD I TAKEN CALOMEL I WOULD BE SICK, WEAK NOW

But I took "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead and Feel Grand—Calomel Nauseates—Salivates!

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of Calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much, but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent Calomel. Take a dose of Calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day.—Advertisement.

SANTA CLARA VALLEY LINE TO BE BUILT

Extension of a Western Pacific branch line into the heart of the Santa Clara valley, work on which is to be started as soon as possible after the return of the road to private ownership on March 1, has been reported following a conference with railroad officials and President Charles M. Lever in New York.

Officials of the company in San Francisco have not been notified of the reported decision and are unable to confirm the story.

The reported decision would mean the building of a line to connect Niles, Los Gatos and San Jose and also a branch as far south as Fresno from Stockton.

In addition there is said to be in consideration and temporarily approved the following plans: Lodi to Lodi, 20 miles, to tap the delta country; Stockton to Byron, 18 miles, to reach agricultural country; Sacramento to Newcastle, by way of Fairbanks and Orangevale, 28 miles, fruit district.

So large a feeder system is under consideration by the railroad that it means an increase in the mileage of the system from 925 to 1,400. It makes the intention of the Western Pacific to go after the California carrying business in earnest.

The meeting in New York furnished a surprise in the decision to cancel the double-track arrangement between Winnemucca and Wells.

"I have read a published account of a report apparently received from the east of pending plans for the extension of the company's lines between San Jose, Niles and other points," declared Alex. R. Baldwin, vice president and general counsel of the company, "but I am unable to confirm it. It is the first I have heard of it and I believe that if any proposed action such as indicated was under contemplation, I would know about it."

It is a matter of general knowledge that the Western Pacific always has contemplated an extension of its lines to San Jose and as a matter of fact had begun the work on the project when it was stopped by the government when it took over control of the railroads.

The fact that the company may extend its lines to San Jose, Niles, Los Gatos, Stockton and Byron would not be particularly new or startling in view of the fact that these points were named in the article of incorporation originally filed by the company.

"Personally I don't believe that anything definite can be announced in view of the fact that the company still is under the jurisdiction of the government. Of course, when the railroads are returned to private control, it is safe to say that many contemplated improvements and extensions contained in the original plan of the company will be consummated. But at present, as far as I know, nothing definite has been decided upon in connection with an extension by this company, although such extensions may have been arrived at by officials in the east. If they have I know nothing of it."

ARMOS TO SAN FRANCISCO. J. L. Armos, newly appointed assistant traffic manager of the Union Pacific, arrived in the Bay Cities yesterday from Kansas City. He will have charge of the passenger and freight traffic in San Francisco.

With the approach of March 1 considerable activity is apparent in railroad circles and daily conferences are being held. It has been determined, almost to a certainty, that the union ticket offices in Oakland and San Francisco will be maintained and that the force of ticket sellers will not again be scattered over the cities. Matters of the restoration of "de luxe" trains, of excursions, and of advertising California scenery and resorts are under consideration.

LICENSE QUERY PUT TO HAGAN. The necessity for some further legislation concerning the liquor question and extending to the status of places selling soft drinks and liquor containing less than one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol was considered by the city council yesterday and resulted in a thorough investigation of the situation being asked of City Attorney H. L. Hagan.

Hagan was asked to render an official opinion on what steps can be taken for the regulation of places now operating under the Hart ordinance, which the courts have recently held is still in effect and to determine what procedure will be necessary against places for which no license is to be required.

Confusion still exists, it developed at the session, over the exact status of places still selling under the prohibition act and some method of regulating the opening and closing hours and the age of patrons of places not operating under license is considered necessary.

Gold Mines Closing Down Because of High Cost of Operation, Expert States

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 15.—Gold mines of the United States are being closed down at an alarming rate. Many of these can never be reopened owing to the prohibitive costs of re-timbering, re-excavating, and re-equipping the mines.

Cripple Creek, the greatest American gold camp, is taking on the appearance of a city of dead hopes. Great drainage tunnels, monster underground workings, vast areas of expensively constructed plants, whole cities of homes are being deserted and thousands of skilled miners are being forced to seek new camps because gold—the basic monetary metal of the United States—cannot longer be produced at a profit.

The startling facts are brought out in a statement to Congress today by Harold N. Lawrie, a nationally known economist for the American Mining Congress. The purchasing power of the ounce of gold which, under statute cannot bring more than $20.67 has, Mr. Lawrie shows, shrunk through inflation of currency until it is no longer possible to produce gold at a profit.

Each increase in credits has been absorbed by a corresponding increase in commodity prices and has resulted in placing the mine upon an artificial plane of living. The gold producer finds the actual purchasing power of his ounce of gold is now $3 instead of $20.67.

DEMANDS EXCEEDS SUPPLY. The manufacturers of the United States used $21,848,800 more gold last year than was produced in the United States. The gold producer lost millions during the year—forced to close his mines because he could not easily understand by the laymen. The manufacturing jeweler made millions because while his goods mounted in value, he secured the gold at a price of $20.67 per ounce, an amount less than the cost of production.

Seventy-five years ago the world produced but $30,000,000 in gold per year. In 1915, the world produced $489,000,000. Rapid increase in population, increase in per capita wealth and adoption of a gold standard of finance in all civilized countries together with waste and hoarding absorbed the increasing gold.

The gold stock of the United States suffered a loss in 1919 of $292,788,000 by the excess gold exports over imports. To further deplete the gold reserve, the consumption of gold in the arts and trades during 1919 was $80,337,600, while the production of new gold in the United States was $58,488,800. The estimated production in 1920 is $40,000,000. The ratio of the gold reserve to the Federal Reserve net deposits and note liabilities has declined since 1914, until it reached 44.8 per cent on December 26, 1919, a margin of but 5.3 per cent above that required by the Federal Reserve Act.

FIGHT AGAINST DANGERS. Certain officials of the government have persistently endeavored to minimize the danger of the failure of the gold standard, but leading financiers of the United States are organizing a campaign to protect the gold standard. The American Bankers' Association in 1918 and again in 1919 passed a resolution calling attention to the threat to the gold standard. The American Mining Congress called a national conference in St. Louis last November and this conference of bankers, economists and miners by resolution put itself on record as expressing the opinion that no change should be made in the gold standard and unit of value of monetary transactions in this and other countries. The Mining Congress to act, and under that resolution a bill shortly will be introduced in Congress to impose a tax of 50 cents per ounce of gold which may be sold on and after May 1, 1920, from which fund the producer of the new gold ounce will receive on and after the same date a $10 premium to compensate for the increased cost of production. This is the only proposal yet advanced, whereby the monetary unit is not altered and a free gold market in the United States may be maintained. The bill merely creates the machinery by which the manufacturers of gold in the arts and trades may properly pass on the cost of its production, so that sufficient new gold may be produced to satisfy their requirements and make it unnecessary to withdraw their gold from the monetary gold reserve of the country.

The gold in the bank reserves is the basis of bank credit. The amount of gold in reserve limits the expansion of credit. These reserves have been steadily falling. The government has allowed vast shipments of gold for export and must continue to export gold in order to maintain export trade, meaning that the production of new gold must be falling with startling rapidity, from $101,000,000 in 1915, to $58,500,000 in 1919, a loss of 42 per cent.

BRITISH PROTECTION. At the beginning of the war, England arranged protection for all of the gold produced by British mines. This protection is still maintained and the gold reserves of England are being increased by imports from the United States, and their own heavy production of new gold. At the close of 1918, there was a gold cover of 60 cents for every Federal Reserve note in circulation. This has declined to 50.3c at the close of 1919. The Federal Reserve Act requires 40c in actual gold against each dollar in circulation.

At the present time the United States is by far the largest producer of gold in the world, and the legal amount cannot long be maintained. The United States today owns approximately one-third of the monetary gold reserve of all nations and is expected to sustain the credit structure of the world.

The depletion of the gold reserve, either by excessive use of manufacturing or by the curtailment of production, necessarily will limit the commercial supremacy which the United States is by virtue of its natural resources, business sagacity and industrial efficiency.

London Library Fund Plans Are Advanced

Oakland lovers of art and literature are planning to take a part in the building of the Jack London Memorial Library at Glen Ellen, through the art sale which is definitely named for March 23 to March 27, with the auction scheduled for the last day, at the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco.

Former friends of the distinguished author have rallied to the project for building the memorial, and are preparing canvasses to contribute to the exhibition and sale which will be representative of the best of the work of the late George Sterling, poet; Dr. W. S. Porter, Pinn Frolich are among those devoting their energies to making the undertaking a financial success.

Mrs. May S. Thompson, representing the Eastbay committee, requests that all those interested in donating canvases or objects of art, communicate with her at 433 Oakland avenue. Telephone, Lakeside 4339.

Boy Speeders Cited To Juvenile Court

George Burnside, a 15-year-old boy living at 2805 Wakenfield avenue, who was arrested for speeding yesterday by Traffic Officer George Britt and Hugh on Grand avenue after he had been stopped, according to the report of the officers, at the point of drawn revolvers, applied for a license to drive a car.

Mortimer Smith, Judge Smith continued the case until tomorrow and ordered that the motorcycle be brought to the city hall.

Clifford Robert Lee was also arrested by Officer Britt, was certified to the Juvenile Court on a speeding charge.

Stage Permit Asked; Ferry to Cut Time. Proposing to cut the running time from Oakland to Vallejo by twenty minutes through the use of the "Six-Minute ferry," to be established between Crockett and Vallejo, the Bay Shore Stage company has asked the railroad commission for authority to establish an auto stage route between Oakland and Vallejo, via Crockett. The Bay Shore company is now operating between Oakland and Martinez.

Justifying its application, the Bay Shore company says that the trip by automobile from Oakland to Vallejo, via Vallejo-Rodeo ferry, takes one hour and fifty minutes. The Six-Minute ferry connection, it is said, will reduce this time to one hour and thirty minutes.

State Urged to Raise Highway Experts' Pay. A new schedule of salaries for engineering and surveying service is outlined by the American Association of Engineers and approved by the National Association of State Highway Commissioners is being urged in this state. The increases range from a $7000 raise to the chief engineer to $6000 more for laboratory assistants and asks for a wage increase all through the service. Under the chief engineer would be paid $45,000, the engineer of construction $10,000, and the civil engineering $10,000, and confidential inspectors, $5,000. The schedule has been adopted by a number of other states and one reason advanced for its adoption in California is that the state may obtain the best talent in competition with those paying the higher salaries.

Wife Is Accused of Loving Another Man

Arthur E. Cresswell came home to find his wife, Mabel E. Cresswell, and a man who was not his, in a rooming house. Cresswell, who is a well-known actor, has been married for several years and has a young son. He has been accused of loving another man.

Cresswell says that his wife has been attending day school "earning stenography" but that he believes she was really trying to educate herself so as to earn money to bring a divorce action.

The husband asks that his wife be restrained from concealing the whereabouts of their son or from disposing of their household furniture, and that he be given a decree with custody of the child.

Raiment Rules Issued to Government Agents

ANCIENT STYLE.

Melt one quarter of a pound of good butter and
have it clarified.
Put into a glazed
vessel seven egg
yolks and five ounces of vanilla
sugar. Beat well
this preparation until it becomes frothy and light.
Then add to it a
grain of salt,
three or four pulverized macaroons and lastly eight stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour the melted butter into one clean omelet pan and then heat and pour the preparation into the pan. Toss slowly to warm it and having the omelet done, turn it out on a hot platter. Keep it well rounded, transfer immediately into one deep buttered dish and put it into a slack but well regulated oven. Remove two minutes later and split the omelet down through the entire depth, then return it to the oven Twelve to fifteen minutes will suffice to cook this omelet. When cooked and light-sprinkle liberally with powdered vanilla sugar and two minutes later remove from the oven and serve immediately.

MY HEART and MY HUSBAND
by ADELE GARRISON

What Happened When Madge Asked
Dickie to the Stockbridges
What! Go to a town I never saw before and strut around like a ham fat actor, spilling little pieces about don't you realize across the water?
Nothing-ing-do-ing! You're crazy.
Madge! Better go and have your head examined!

This was the reception which Dickie accorded to the delivery of the invitation of Mr. Stockbridge and his wife. I was not dismayed, for I had expected a tempestuous refusal when I broached the subject.
But Dickie's ban on today should conscienceless I said quietly:
"I am afraid I haven't made you understand the situation, dear. You nor any of the men who were abroad, can realize how abysmally ignorant we people at home are of the real happenings over there. And you really know how imperative it is that the children of our country have impressed upon them just the things that you and men like you could bring home to them!"

"For heaven's sake, cut that kind of dope out!" Dickie rejoined crossly.
"You're not delivering a lecture in your classroom, remember. All this guff doesn't impress me one bit. Not that I would object to your lecturing to the kids, if you could get 'em off by themselves somewhere, where there weren't a lot of smirking school-ma'ams lined up behind them, crucifying every word of yours out of their mouths. But that's impossible, of course."

As for the other scheme of going to that principal's for dinner and meeting some of Bayview's leading citizens afterward? Police! I'd sooner be in the eternal oven with a fractured spine—please give me credit for clothing my idea with innocuous language—he bowed to me mockingly—"and that's final."

"But what shall I write to Mrs.
Stockbridge, Dickie?" I asked.
"That's your funeral," he retorted brusquely. "Tell 'em anything you please, that I'm shell shocked, and can't speak three consecutive words straight, or that I haven't eaten at a civilized table in so long that the sight of an oyster fork sends me into spasms—you have an inventive mind, my dear, exercise it!"

He retired behind his newspaper, leaving me furious with anger, a curse on his head, and a vow to show I knew my husband well enough to know that his decisions were not always irrevocable, but I also knew that anything like nagging would crystallize his dislike of the project into mulish obstinacy.

OPPORTUNITY MADE TO ORDER.
Therefore I was careful not to mention the subject, and when Dickie, after finishing his paper, began a conversation which had no relation to the former topic, I kept up my end of it with no intimation that anything had occurred to disturb me. But I set my mental teeth balefully as I chattered, and bided my time, which I felt sure would come, when I came sooner than I expected, although not in time to save me from the embarrassment of declining the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Stockbridge. I didn't make the declination final, however, explaining to Mr. Stockbridge that Dickie's time was so filled with professional engagements and meetings with his old friends that it would be some time before he could accept.

else I held out the distinct hope—both in my interview with my principal and the cordial note I sent to his wife—that later we would be glad to accept the flattering invitation they had extended to us, and I resolved grimly that in some manner I would make my promise good.
My opportunity when it came, was like a situation made to order. I couldn't possibly have devised one better suited to my purpose. Dickie, man-like, had evidently forgotten everything about his brusque refusal to accompany me to Bayview, when, one evening a week later, he followed an interesting description of the latest illustration he was making with an exclamation—

"By George, I nearly forgot!
Miss Brown is going to give a sort of a costume party in her studio apartment a week from Friday night.
She and the Fairfaxes are doing it together, imagine, and they want you to be sure to come. It'll be a crazy sort of thing I expect. Rita's got a bunch of wet clay where her sense of proportion ought to be, but we can't vary well refuse, and I suppose it's amusing to you.
If you'd like any pointers about your costume call on me."

Uncle Wiggily's
Bedtime StoryUNCLE WIGGILY'S FUNNY DANCE
(By Howard R. Garis)

"Where is your new necktie, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane, the muskrat lady housekeeper, as she came out on the porch of the bunny rabbit's hollow stump bungalow one morning.
"My new necktie, Miss Fuzzy Wuz-zy?" exclaimed Mr. Longears, "why, I didn't know I had to have one!"
"Of course you have!" laughed Nurse Jane. "Down you remember you said you'd take me to the dance that Mrs. Wibblewobble, the duck lady, is going to give for Lulu and Alice, her two duck girls? Don't you remember that?"

"Oh, yes, that's so," said Uncle Wiggily. "But I forgot all about getting a new tie for the dance."
"Then you'd better hop right along to the eight and nine cent store and buy your self a new one," went on the muskrat lady. "The dance was tonight, but you'll have plenty of time to get a tie."

"And I must have a little time to practice some new dance steps," spoke the bunny rabbit. "I am a little rusty, like the hinges of the garden gate, and I need a little practice."
"Well, when I do some of the fancy steps, if I don't practice a little," said Nurse Jane. "You'll be all ready for the Wibblewobble party," said Nurse Jane.

The bunny rabbit gave his pink nose an extra twinkle or two, took his tail and his nine cent store tie, reached his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch out of the umbrella rack and away he hopped over the fields and through the woods.
It did not take the rabbit gentleman long to get to the six and seven-cent store, where he bought a twenty-five cent necktie from a little mouse girl clerk.

"Now I'll practice my new dance steps," cried Uncle Wiggily, as he once more hopped through the woods. When he came to a small stream, he saw a little tail tree, he said to himself: "This will be a good place for me to practice my new dance steps."

CONTRACTOR IS OUT WITH FACTS

Broken Down From Overwork
He Takes Tanlac and Now Feels Splendid.

Have actually gained twelve pounds by taking Tanlac, and this strikes me as being remarkable, especially for one of my age, as I am 42 years old," said C. L. Locke, 424 North Seventh street, Southeast Portland, Ore., contractor and builder, while telling of his experience with Tanlac.

"Up to two years ago," Mr. Locke continued, "I was very vigorous, but at that time I was on a ranch in California and I worked so hard I overtaxed my strength and became very weak. I lost my appetite and I just had to force down every mouthful of food. Nothing tasted good and I just managed to eat just to keep from starving. I was so weak and thin that I could not do any work. I had heard so much praise of Tanlac and I decided to give it a trial, and to my surprise I began to feel better almost as soon as I started taking it. I say 'I was surprised' because I had taken so many different treatments and medicines without getting any benefit. I had about lost faith in everything. Well, I continued taking it until now I have a good appetite and everything I eat tastes good and gives me strength. I sleep well at night and always get up in the morning feeling greatly rested. My circulation is all right again and I am entirely rid of that cold chills feeling and numbness has entirely left my hands. I feel better in every way than I have in years, and I owe it all to Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by The Owl Drug Company Stores.—Advertisement.

RAIL POLICY IS SCORED BY HOOVER

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The return of the railroads to private ownership, which is the subject of the "final trial," in the opinion of Herbert Hoover, expressed last night in his inaugural address as president of the American Association of Mining Engineers. At the same time Hoover attacked government operation of either railroads or shipping as "expensive, in efficiency, and inefficient by the way, to which there were many fundamental objections."

"No scheme of political appointment," Hoover said, "has ever yet devised that will result in competition in its selection of ability and character. Both shipping and railroads have today the advantage of many skilled personnel, skilled out in a hard school of competition, and even then the government operation of these enterprises is not proving satisfactory."

"Therefore the ultimate inefficiency that would arise from the deadening paralysis of bureaucracy, has not yet had full opportunity for development. Already we can show that no government under pressure of ever-present political or sectional interests, can properly conduct the risks of extension and improvement, or can be free from local pressure to conduct unwarranted services in industrial enterprise."

The problem of the relationship between the employer and employee was not discussed by Hoover. He asserted that the country had until recently "greatly neglected the human factor that is so large an element in our productivity."

Hoover declared he is convinced that the vast majority of American labor "fundamentally wishes to cooperate in production with the basis of good will can be organized and the vitality of production recreated."

ASSAULTS COAL INDUSTRY.

Question on the stabilization of the bituminous coal industry, Hoover characterized it "the worst functioning industry in the whole world." He pleaded with the industry to help solve the problem.

"I want to protest against the suggestion of the importation of Chinese labor," Hoover said. "That involves a social problem that involves the amalgamation of races."

"We are not looking for sheer economic results in attacking the coal industry problem, but to increase the efficiency of the industry so that it and the labor employed in it can become a part of our own development, of our own Americanization."

While admitting that a budget system would not be a remedy for all administrative ills, Hoover contended that it would provide for the efficient operation of the industry.

"The prevention of waste, the expenditure of legislation and the 'exposure of the pork barrel' He added that no budget which did not cover all government expenditure was 'worth enactment.'"

CITY FIREMEN OUT FOR PRIZE

Oakland's fire department is being groomed and whipped into shape by Fire Chief Elliott Whitehead to compete with the departments of other cities of the Pacific Coast in the prize fire prevention contest which has been launched by the Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs, of which Chief Whitehead is president.

Thomas H. Ince, moving picture producer, whose recent "Three-reel film contributed to the cause of the fire prevention, was shown in all the cities of the country, has offered a silver loving cup as the principal trophy. This cup will be awarded to the city whose department makes the best record during the year in fire prevention work. The city winning the cup three times retains it permanently.

In addition to the loving cup the fire prevention bureau of the Pacific Coast has offered the fire department of the city winning the cup this year a large cash prize to be expended for the benefit of the firemen.

The awards will be based on the best showing in fire prevention; reduction in fire losses; and alarms turned in, in presentation of arson cases, public meetings held in the interest of the national fire prevention campaign and similar activities will be taken into consideration by the board of judges who will make the awards.

"Oakland's fire department is out to bring home the bacon in this contest," said Chief Whitehead last night. "It is something worth working for—not for the intrinsic value of the prize, of course, but for the honor of the thing and the effect it will have in furthering interest in the fire prevention campaign. We have a wonderful record in fire prevention here in Oakland and there is no reason why we should not win it. We do so as well as we have done in the past in this regard we have an excellent chance of getting this prize for a permanent possession."

Looked out to win the prize for Oakland and I think it is a matter that all Oakland citizens should take an interest in and assist in every way possible, but chiefly by the prevention of fires."

JOCEY Universal Garden Urged by Women In War on Costs

By EDNA D. KINARD.

Spring is come. The club women are right on their job. They have a practical remedy to offer in reducing the high cost of living. It is the backyard, the front yard, the side yard, the vacant lot, the school, the playground garden. The General Federation of Women's Clubs is spreading broadcast throughout the United States the propaganda which will start forth from the earth turnip, carrot, cabbage, radish, radishes, onions, beans, peas and potatoes, or anything else from which the human family gains its sustenance. They say—and who shall gainsay it?—With vegetables selling at almost bankruptcy prices, it behooves both the family and the school to become actual producers.

Not alone for the spring and summer season is the recruiting of the ranks of the wilderers of hoe to be made, but word will go forward that enough foodstuff is to be raised up the cellar and larders with vegetables to last through the winter.

When the war of plowing and sowing is prohibitive, John D. Sherman of Chicago, general federation chairman of the department on conservation, makes a plea to women's clubs to defray needful expenses. "Do anything," is the spirit of his nationwide message which the food crisis has brought forth, "so long as vegetables and eatables are obtained and raised."

From the campaign besides food, the club women expect to rid the country of its greatest curse, the parasite. They offer that by teaching the young to be economically independent they are breaking up more important powers than food trusts. They emphasize in their plea for home and school gardens, the patriotic spirit which will meet the food crisis as it did during the war. By teaching the nobility of work, thrift, industry and love of making things grow, and by broadening one's field of usefulness by educating the hand as well as the head, the club women already have begun to put on a mantle of school and home gardens, and youngsters are watching the tender shoots of beet and beans pushing through the soil against the high cost of living.

SERVICE MEN GET INCOME TAX DATA

Numerous inquiries are received by Collector of Internal Revenue Justus S. Wardell from men in active army or navy service regarding the exemptions to which they are entitled in the filing of income tax returns. Soldiers and sailors as such are not exempt from the tax, but the law specifically exempts that portion of their income received as compensation from the United States up to $500 in any taxable year. This exemption is in addition to the personal exemptions of $1000 and $2000 allowed single and married persons and applies to a person of either sex in active service in the military or naval forces.

It is known to compensation received during the war, termination of which will be fixed by a proclamation of the President. The $500 exemption applies only to compensation received from the government and not to income earned or received from outside sources. Quarters furnished an army or navy officer in compensation and their fair rental value must be considered in a claim for the $500 exemption. Such amount in the case of officers whose compensation for the taxable year was more than $2500 must be included in the re-

Graves Looted in Vienna Cemeteries

VIENNA, (Monday), Feb. 16.—Systematic vandalism and robbery in cemeteries has led to demands for police protection. Newspapers say graves and vaults have been despoiled, articles of the slightest value stolen and coffins smashed for firewood.

It is subject to the tax. The return is for the calendar year. Persons who left the military or naval service during the year 1919 and whose income, other than the amount paid them by the government equal to or exceeded $1000 or $2000 according to their marital status, must file a return on or before March 15. The tax is on incomes in excess of these amounts and may be paid in quarterly installments, the first of which must accompany the filing of a return. Forms for reporting income may be obtained from the collector of internal revenue and deputy collectors.

ARBITRATION FOR RAILROADS.

Much good may be expected to result from the provision which the Senate and House conferees have written into the new railroad bill for a permanent system of arbitration of disputes between workers and operators of the railroads. While compulsion and strike prohibition has been eliminated from the proposed law, the very existence of permanent machinery of arbitration will have a significant effect in protecting the public against unnecessary injury from labor conflicts. It may not entirely prevent injury—but it will lessen the danger.

A permanent appeals board is to be created, if the conference suggestion is adopted, which will be the final agency of arbitration. A provision is made for temporary and regional adjustment boards which will first consider any controversy and with the power of decision in disputes over hours of labor, working conditions and other grievances except wage rates. The latter are reserved to the exclusive jurisdiction of the appeals board.

This board is to consist of nine members, three representative of the railroad operators, three of the employees and three of the public. The one major defect apparent at first glance is that the public is in a minority—the public which supports the railroads and the public which stands the most serious loss and inconvenience in case of extension of business through strike troubles. The railroads—operators and employees—will outvote the public's representatives two to one. But there is some measure of reassurance in the provision that no decision calling for an increase of wages will be effective unless at least one of the public's representatives vote in favor of it.

Neither side to a controversy is bound by law to accept the decision of the appeals board. But it is expected that public opinion will make refusal to accept a very difficult and hazardous matter. This will prove the case providing the members of the board are of such character and national high standing as to command public respect and confidence. The personnel of the board is therefore of the greatest importance. The members are to receive a salary of $10,000 a year and this should permit the selection of the right type of citizen. Upon the wisdom of appointment will in large measure depend the success of this latest experiment in industrial relations.

THE DRAMA AND OPPORTUNITY.

Within hearing of a great deal of popular opinion concerning the decadence of the drama it is refreshing to know that, during the last thirty years, the best literature of the world has nearly all been revealed in that medium. It has little to do with what we see on the stage and less with these productions which offer us an appeal of the "stupendous" expenditures in staging. We can do without all of these and have still a dramatic literature which has left its infancy behind and stands upright in the lusty strength of young manhood.

Roll-calls and the reading of minutes are tedious procedures and one need mention but Rosland and Matelink, the same D'Annunzio who laid down an inspired pen to brandish a sword in romantic adventuring, Hauptmann, Suderman, Schnitzler, Chekov, Gorki, Andrieu, and the men of England and Ireland—Wilde, Pinero, Shaw, Scribe, Yeats, Barrie, Galsworthy and Barker.

On the American side of the Atlantic it was Clyde Fitch who was the first. Followed Augustus Thomas, William Vaughn Moody, Eugene Walter, Louis Anspacher, Jesse Lynch Williams and others. It is significant of the fact that America has not done her share and that our appreciation has been given more generously to the men of the other side that few of the Americans have attained a place of recognition by their last names only.

American drama has an equal right to share in the opportunity that has come with the close of the war. We are said to possess some of the most promising of the English-speaking poets and the gap in present day English literature is the drama in poetic form. The English language has given the world more real poetry than any other and the greatest dramatist in all history was an English poet. The world awaits the mature expression of a most promising age.

Granville Barker's recent visit to Oakland should prove a local stimulant to appreciation of our modern dramatists. There are grounds for an intelligent difference of opinion as to the value of his ideas, but there is no denial that he has them. The effects of his lessons in stagecraft, given in his first visit to New York could be over-estimated, for he stimulated the American theater in many directions needing attention and example. Lavish America perhaps more than any other country needed to learn of stage dressing that should be subordinate to the drama and at the same time assist in interpreting it. This was Granville Barker's greatest gift to America, a gift not widely appreciated at the time but one which is engendering a lasting spirit of gratitude.

If America should be fortunate enough to produce that man who is going to write the great poetic drama of the war it would be altogether fitting that Barker should stage it. And he is such a man as would consider the Greek theater and California hills and skies as better, even than the revolving stage, a multitude of drops and a wealth of startling and clamorous effects.

FRANCE SPEAKS UP.

Premier Millerand's notification to Germany that, because of non-fulfillment of treaty terms, the time limits placed upon the Allied occupation of the Rhineland have been suspended, is important for more than appears on its face. It is the French statesman's answer to Mr. Lloyd George in a contest for supremacy at the council table.

M. Millerand acted in the name of France and not in that of the Council of Ambassadors of which he is president, and holds that his country's vital interests were at stake and that its position was not only justified but imperative. When Clemenceau left office the diplomats looked to Lloyd George to emerge the undisputed leader in the post-war deliberations. It was he who surprised France with a suggestion to relent in the plans for punishment of war criminals and it was he who fathered the plan to open trade with Russian cooperative societies without treating with the Soviets.

If Mr. Lloyd George is to argue for a setting aside of one after another of the articles of the peace treaty, France asked, how long will there be a certainty that France may gather its fruits of war? There was no fright, no hysteria, no crisis in the general meaning of the word. The time had come, however, for the French initiative and power, wielded so often and effectively by the "old Tiger" Clemenceau.

Millerand seems to have taken the cue and to have acted forthwith. Lloyd George will have to come with the French premier or will be forced to enter upon a great diplomatic battle.

WHOLE CIRCUS WANTED.

Whether William Jennings Bryan will be a delegate to the democratic convention in San Francisco next June depends wholly upon the action of the Nebraska democratic organization. That body kept Bryan from going to St. Louis as a delegate in 1916 and it can keep him from coming to the Pacific Coast in the same capacity this year.

All of its horses and all of its men, however, cannot prevent him from coming of his own initiative and without credentials. The opposition to Bryan as a delegate four years ago came largely from those who disliked his attitude upon the liquor question. Whether this dislike is stronger or weaker today remains to be seen in the coming decision. Nebraska politicians are inclined to believe that the machine will not object strenuously to Bryan becoming a delegate.

In California we are, of course, glad to have the opportunity of entertaining the great convention. But while we are doing it we like to feel that the Democrats are planning to bring with them all of their side-shows and prized exhibits. We shall be disappointed if we do not see the Tammany style of silk hats, Bryan as a delegate and the "hound dog" chair from Missouri.

HELPING THE WOMEN.

There are plenty of indications that the men who showed a certain condescension toward women, after the extension of the suffrage to the other sex, are beginning to change their attitude to a more fitting one. Of course they cannot forget that they performed a great act of self-renunciation in giving their sisters, their souls and their hearts to a love with themselves in a world that regarded as organized by and for the masculine person. But they are becoming quite reasonable.

Only now and then does some statement show the old spirit, as was the case with the Hon. Joseph Daniels at the dinner to Chairman Homer Cummings of the Democratic National Committee the other night. Holding his pocket handkerchief before his straining eyes, as he described the virtues of the party, Mr. Cummings begged the ladies to aid in the election of a Democratic President, whereupon the Secretary of the Democratic National Committee, who was seated next to him, said: "Tell them the men will help the women to elect a Democratic President."

It is good to see that the greater the opportunity to greater the gratitude. The Hon. Joseph Daniels, who might have been indulging in a generous and wide field of the political imagination, but all the same, it is impossible to get away from the fact that he is a man who is becoming quite reasonable.

Early and lately women are making their position as a political thing. Members of the organization, who are to be registered and vote, and now the practical politicians are finding that the sisters who want to be delegates to state and national conventions are not to be satisfied with seats on club committees.

Discussing the vote, the brains, the knowledge and the will to go with the vote, and under all women who they want to be wonder that the women who are making the top of a storm, the men (consequently) "the good thing" the women will make practical the more interesting by making it less of a detail than it used to be—New York Sun and Herald.

NOTES and COMMENT

The final correspondence that passed between President Wilson and Secretary Lansing had a distinct Alphonse-and-Gaston tinge; but when the Secretary wrote, "I have never failed to follow your decisions, however difficult it made the conduct of our foreign affairs," he skirted the neighborhood of a slam.

Of course, newspapers and individuals that take account of the Wilson-Lansing controversy in a way not favorable to the President may be accused of partisanship; but the foreign discussion is beyond that category and is very frankly favorable to the former Secretary of State. If we cannot accept our own conclusion in the matter we are helped out by opinion that is certainly unbiased.

In paying $19.50 for an overcoat and $22 for a suit Senator Trammell of Florida is showing the way to meet the high cost of living. But how he manages to be called the Beau Brummel of the Senate is the thing that many who are willing to commend his achievement would like to know.

Mr. Bryan names at least eight planks that the Democratic party will embody in its platform, the first of which is endorsement of the administration of President Wilson. Not discussing the abstract righteousness of such a plank, judging from some recent occurrences, it is not likely to be powerful in winning votes.

Something new is the trial of an Alameda man on contempt charges for failing to pay alimony after the death of his wife. It is explained that the doctor and nurse have not been reimbursed. Imprisonment for debt is not entirely a thing of the past, it would seem.

Whether there is sympathy or not with the sufferer, there is likely to be interest in the case of the man who was arrested in San Francisco for having an ounce of whisky in his possession. Wherever it might be carried, an ounce of whisky would not seem to be an incendiary quantity.

Not complimentary and perhaps not just to the autist in general is the fuss made over Mr. La Plant of Alameda. He backed his auto against an electric pole, smashing things, and immediately reported the accident to the police, together with his willingness to pay damages. The incident is given publicity as though he is the only man operating an automobile who ever did such a wonderful thing. Testimony might be taken as to whether this assumption is right.

The many large corporations, some of them with familiar names and well established industries, that have within the half year announced head office moves have been taken account of, but perhaps the casual observer has not noticed that the rate of interest offered has been gradually increasing. Six months ago it was rarely above five; now, seven, and a fraction above that, is most frequently quoted. This may be said to indicate the high price of money.

The last Legislature enacted legislation to punish and prevent cattle stealing, but it was not enough. Cattle stealing now is rampant legislation. The legislative assembly that has heretofore been concentrated for the protection of horses and cattle may well be transferred to the protection of the cattle, which now are the only protection that legislation can devise.

Sometimes there is partisan disagreement with Hon. Elihu Root, and disapproval by those who are at personal odds with him; but after all and finally, when such a non-partisan occasion arrives as his birthday, there is a momentary recognition of the fact that he is a very great American. His seventy-fifth birthday anniversary occurred last Sunday.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

Independent packers have begun already to bid for the 1920 rubber under contract to the California Associated Rubber Company. The packers circulated in fruit circles yesterday were to the effect that several of the packers had begun to bid that offerings as high as 15 cents a pound had been made. These offerings are said to have been made for Muscat, Pabozzagos and Zinfandel. What tonnage, if any, has been signed at these figures, is not known.—Fresno Republican.

D. L. Pray, of Avenale, trapped a large mountain lion in that vicinity. It was caught by the toes in the trap and was making a desperate effort to get away when Mr. Pray appeared upon the scene. After an exciting time, in which he (Mr. Pray) got a little too close to Mr. Lion for comfort, he succeeded in killing the animal.—San Luis Obispo Tribune.

George Constable this morning brought into The Tribune office two eggs, a large one and a small one, either of which breaks all records in its individual class. The large egg measured 7 1/2 by 4 inches. It is found in Rhode Island and had been so found as it was found in a nest on the same day, so it was not produced by the same hen. It is the size of a brick egg and if it had been much smaller it possibly would not have been found.—Holtville Tribune.

Charles M. Hatfield, the famous rain-maker, has been hired to demonstrate his rain-making ability in the vicinity of Newman, and is to commence operations today. The contract calls for six inches of moisture prior to April 19 at the agreed price of $300 per inch. If the six inches is not secured Mr. Hatfield fails to collect. Locally the odds are even. But Stockton wants to wager $10 that Hatfield collects less of rain in detail than it used to be—New York Sun and Herald.

THE CALL TO BATTLE

DIXIE LAND OF AFRICA

"Jubaland is not a musical comedy name for Dixie, but a portion of British East Africa, which may be joined to Italian Somaliland as the outcome of amicable negotiations between Great Britain and Italy, news despatches state," says the National Geographic Society in a bulletin issued today from its Washington headquarters.

"Few other undeveloped regions on that vast continent hold such agricultural opportunities for individuals or companies which can handle native labor as do the vast uncultivated plains on which rubber, cotton and tobacco can be grown."

"Jubaland now is the northernmost part of British East Africa lying west of the Juba river. Few white men have penetrated the fastnesses of this country which touches Abyssinia on the north, Uganda on the west, and Italian Somaliland on the east. Its southern portion fringes the equator. With the exception of the Juba there are no navigable streams of note leading inland."

"The Juba river, about the length of our own Colorado river, can be used for commercial navigation about 400 miles from its mouth. In its valley, where irrigation is practiced on a naturally fertile soil, ready there are continuous fields of maize, millet, plantain, sesame, tobacco and cotton. Near the lower portion of the river densely populated areas alternate with forests."

"Within Jubaland's territory, only a little less in area than Italy, perhaps 250,000 members of the Somali and Galla tribes live. The Gallas are of a high physical quality. They are dark brown in color, are generally tall and well formed, and their deep-sunk, lively eyes give them a keen, intelligent look. They are warlike nomads and roam with their herds of camels, ponies, cows and fat-tailed sheep over the grassy uplands of their country. Within recent years the Somalis have pushed into the Galla country and are sending its people southward and westward. The Gallas are hospitable, brave in battle and keen in trading."

"Their women enjoy an exceptional amount of freedom as compared with that given the women of most African tribes. They may even reject an undesirable suitor. Both men and women usually wear a loincloth of coarse cotton, and make up for the lack in the number of their garments by adorning themselves with ornaments of brass and iron. The men wear necklaces of the brighter metal, leaving the fashion of armlets and anklets of more inconspicuous substances to women."

"This land of promise is not an unpleasant place to live. The lowlands are hot, but a short distance back from the shores of the Indian ocean the land begins to rise gradually until it reaches an elevation of between 4500 and 6000 feet, when it stretches out into a rolling plateau, with valuable forest areas. In this section the climate is temperate, with heavy rains during our spring and fall months. The crops are approximately the same as those we find in our own country."

"Kismayu is the capital of Jubaland. It is a town of about 3000 inhabitants, a few miles from the mouth of the Juba, and carries on a brisk trade with the interior."

See my ship of dreams.

To others it is but a cloud That drifts across the blue, A vapor in the upper air Dissolving soon to view. To me it is a vessel tall, With slender ropes and masts, And canvas proudly billowing Against the sun and stars.

It brings from far off ports of call Rich treasures in the hold, New books and shining motor cars, And bars of yellow gold, And flashing gems and velvet chairs, And rags of rainbow dye, And all the things for which I long. But can't afford to buy.

It has adventures in the Isles Of copra, pearls and spice, Its bulwarks have been often ripped In fields of Arctic ice, But always it comes safely back Through weathering four or five, With jacks, broadsides and lacquered work, And carved idols rare.

When all my earthly tasks are done, Two anchor off the town, And wait for me with folded sails And Jacob's ladder down, And facing by my office coat So shiny at the seams, My soul released will glide away Upon my ship of dreams.

Why Science Says "Calorie Fad" Has Run Its Course

By DR. LEONARD K. HIRSBERG,
A. B., M. A., M. D.
(Johns Hopkins University)

Another Daniel has come to judgment and an espoused fad has again come to naught.

There has been much ado about "calories" in the last fifteen years. A calorie, you will remember, is an alleged unit of value for calories. The amount of heat emitted as energy when a given kind of food in a definite quantity rises one degree in temperature is called a calorie.

Prof. Henry Dwight Chapin, in the Journal of the American Medical Association, points to the observation that heat or energy, the unit of calorie value, may be manufactured or emitted by chemical changes as well as by oxidation or combustion. Heat may be a dead loss, a degradation of energy. In the animal man it is worse, it is a waste, an excretion.

Obviously, the calorie, or so-called food unit, alone is not a safe guide for the standardization and estimated nutritive value of victuals and drink.

"Calories," Prof. Chapin records, "is especially true at the beginning of life when growth is the all important factor."

The diets which build up the fabric rather than those that are burned up to yield heat and energy are the ones to be estimated for healthy development.

The calorie fad has worked as much mischief as other discarded theories have done. The calorie doctrine of feeding will now be abandoned first by the advanced investigators of foods and rations and perhaps some years hence by the mass of dilettantes.

Foods are to be tested by some reliable gauge of nutrition to determine the type and quantity of amino-acids and vitamins present. The ratio of sugar to starch, oil to fats, mineral fertilizers to osmotic ashes and protein to water also will be investigated.

Biological examinations of work, growth, repair, multiplication and reproduction of fragments of tissue, as well as such influences upon the whole man must be made with various combinations of minerals, water, amino compounds, albumens, globulins, oils, fats, starches, sugars, vitamins and other elements of nutrition before a true food unit of standard can be determined.

WITHOUT PRECEDENT.

Statistics would appear to warrant the statement that if Hawaii were today admitted to the Union it would come in practically as a Japanese state, and while there is nothing at present in sight or in prospect of this far-away territory separated from the continental United States by many leagues of sea and isolated completely in a geographical sense to come knocking at the door requesting admission to the sisterhood of states would give our lawmakers many a serious thing to think about, and they would have no precedent to guide their action.—Salt Lake City Desert News.

Tears Fill Eyes of Jurors As Mrs. Thurston Tells of Taunts Made by Husband

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Mrs. Julia Mildred Thurston took the witness stand in Superior Judge Frank J. Griffin's Court today and told of her desperate and futile battle to retain the affections of her husband, Fred A. Thurston, that culminated when she shot down and killed him in a rooming house near Third street, shortly after noon on November 4.

Her story was told quietly and unemotionally, rising at times to dramatic intensity, particularly when she testified that her husband had taunted her with the fact that their ten-year-old son Joey had been born out of wedlock, and in describing the few brief minutes of which she could recall just before she murdered the woman who she asserted robbed her of her husband's affections.

"I was talking to my husband in Sacramento," Mrs. Thurston said, "and appealing to him to bring his affairs with me to the city. We were discussing our affairs and he smiled in a sarcastic way and said, 'Well, Julia, what do you think you friends in Sacramento would say if they knew that little Joey was born before you were married?'"

Up to this point Mrs. Thurston, although laboring under intense emotion, had been able to maintain a semblance of composure, but when she reached this stage of her testimony, her lips trembled and her voice faltered although her words were distinctly audible in the hushed courtroom. The eyes of many of the spectators and jurors were filled with tears. It was only when she referred to the little lad who has been her constant companion in court since the trial started, that Mrs. Thurston has broken under the ordeal which she has undergone in the battle which is being made by her attorneys for the life or liberty of their client.

DESCRIBES MEETING
After describing how she had endeavored to prevail upon both her husband and Miss Kimball to give up each other and how Miss Kimball had telegraphed $500 bail money to Thurston when a warrant was issued in Sacramento on the charge of failure to provide for a minor child, sworn to by Mrs. Thurston, the witness then described in detail the conversation she had with Miss Kimball at the Palace hotel a short time before the tragedy was enacted in front of the Monarch building.

"On that morning," Mrs. Thurston said, "I left the Marmon Hotel, where I had registered, and went to the Palace Hotel, stopping within a few feet of the wicket where Miss Kimball performed her duties. I sat down in the lobby for a while and waited. I must have been about ten minutes past eleven."

"After a while Miss Kimball put on her hat and jacket and left her office and started toward Market street. She passed right by me, close enough so that her dress could have touched mine. She turned away in the same manner as a person would who wished to avoid another."

"I followed her and was almost near the door when my progress was blocked by a man. By that time Miss Kimball was on Market street and was so far in advance of me that I had to walk rapidly to overtake her. I said to her, 'Miss Kimball, I want to talk to you about my husband and other things.' She replied, 'If you want to talk to me you will have to hurry, as I have an engagement with my dentist.'"

DRESSING MISS KIMBALL
"I asked her to let my husband alone, that I knew he had been giving her money and that she had bought him things and was wearing his rings and that she had sent $500 to him by wire to Sacramento for his bail."

"She said, 'you will have to prove those things, Mrs. Thurston.' I said, 'I can prove them. I will come down to the Western Union Telegraph Company I will prove all I say. I can prove that you sent him money.'"

"You can't talk that way about me," Miss Kimball answered, and that is all I can remember."

"And that is all you can remember?" Attorney Johnson's query sounded startlingly clear in the hushed courtroom.

"That is all I remember," replied the witness slowly, enunciating every word distinctly.

"What do you next remember?" asked Johnson.

Tensing herself as if for an ordeal, Mrs. Thurston replied, "The next thing I remember I was at the prison. It is vague and terrible. I was sitting in a chair. A newspaper reporter was near my side. Three men were asking me questions and another man was writing rapidly on a typewriter. I do not know what was said, or really what was happening."

MRS. THURSTON CRIES.
The witness by this time was weeping convulsively and Attorney Johnson temporarily abandoned further examination along that line.

Mrs. Thurston told of her unsuccessful effort to induce Miss Kimball that one afternoon she had telephoned Miss Kimball from Sacramento and the latter had promised to have nothing further to do with Thurston, but despite this, had telegraphed him bail money that same evening. Mrs. Thurston also testified that an attorney had interviewed her in Sacramento and had sought to make her admit that she at one time had practiced prostitution and also tried to make her admit to one alleged specific instance where she received money.

Mrs. Thurston said she indignantly had denied the insinuations and later had warned the attorney to leave her room, when the attorney, she charges, said: "Your friends think you are a respectable woman. You were married in 1917, were you not? What would they think if they knew that you had been a mother before your marriage? We are going to publish the whole thing."

The witness described further instances where she had tried to reach Thurston at his place of employment and when she had endeavored to enlist the support of employers of Miss Kimball to prevail upon her to cease receiving the attentions of Thurston.

BACCUS WINS SKIRMISH IN CITY COUNCIL

Further provision for the carrying out of the program of Commissioner Baccus for the improvement of streets in the downtown business section was made by the City Council this morning after a controversy in which Commissioners Edwards and Soderberg were unsuccessful in efforts to block the move.

The discussion developed when Baccus brought forward a resolution directing City Engineer Campbell to prepare proceedings for the improvement of Madison street between Seventh and Twelfth streets, a portion of the program.

"Wait a moment," interrupted Edwards. "Is it necessary at this time to spend the money for this work?"

"Madison street is in poor condition and needs paving," answered Commissioner Baccus.

Baccus then pointed out that the work involved in the carrying out of the program had been before the Council.

"It was in the program," responded Edwards, but that portion of the work was not agreed on by the Council."

The issue was put to a ballot and the resolution was passed over the opposition of Edwards and Soderberg.

Additional provision for street improvements were made with the passage by the Council of an ordinance directing the widening of Fourteenth street between Alameda and Oak streets and directing City Attorney Hagman to prepare a Superior Court suit to condemn the property necessary for the widening.

HAVEN'S ESTATE SOLVENT, CLAIM

Instead of conditions verging on bankruptcy, with only a small proportion of their claims in sight for creditors, the estate of Frank C. Haven, millionaire promoter and real estate holder, who died less than a year ago, will pay dollar for dollar, according to Mrs. Lila Rand Haven, the widow and executrix, and Wickham Havens, executor.

Superior Judge Edward C. Robinson today approved the first account of the executrix and executor, which showed that both had paid out in settlements and claims considerably more than double the amount received.

Wickham Havens declared that the fact that he and Mrs. Havens are advancing their own money to settle the debts of the estate is evidence of their belief that the estate will settle with everyone in full, if only a little more time is given.

"I certainly would not be paying out a dollar with the expectation of getting back only a fraction of it," he said. "I will take the same attitude regarding the remaining debts. We will settle everything in full."

Wickham Havens reported that he had received $56,214.96 and disbursed $155,460.69, while Mrs. Havens report revealed a receipt of $56,412 and disbursements of $131,640.50. It was also shown that stocks valued at $511,632.30 and pledged as security for loans made to Frank C. Havens had been sold and that thirty-four pieces of real estate, including nearly 250 acres of ranch land, similarly pledged, also had been foreclosed and the loans involved settled in full.

The estate was appraised at more than $2,200,000, while claims totaling approximately $2,000,000 were presented.

Alameda Mayor Gets Home from Capital

ALAMEDA, Feb. 18.—Mayor Frank Ous returned home this morning from Washington where he went two weeks ago to deliver Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels the deeds to the Alameda naval base. The Alameda mayor brings word that Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Joseph King of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce are going on to New York from Washington, probably will be home in the near future. Mayor Ous said he thought the prospects for Alameda in the naval base matter were very good. There is a disposition in congress to retrocede where possible but appropriations are being made as usual for necessary undertakings. At naval department headquarters it is considered vitally necessary that a navy base should be established on San Francisco bay. For this reason the mayor believes that the chances for getting an appropriation are very good. He does not look for action by congress for four or five weeks.

POLICE SEE SCHEME TO LURE GIRLS

What appears to the police to be a clever scheme on the part of an unidentified man to lure young girls was revealed this morning shortly after nine o'clock when scores of pretty girls began calling at the Hotel Oakland and inquiring for H. S. Ryerson, who the young women said, had advertised for a pretty young model for sport houses.

Ryerson is not registered at the hotel and is unknown there, according to the management. That the advertisement, which appeared in the morning papers, may have been inserted by the following committee, desired to have a blouse model while exhibiting his goods at the hotel, was the belief of the hotel management. But as the morning papers and Ryerson failed to appear and the would-be models became more numerous, the management became suspicious and began an investigation. Ryerson is now a much wanted man.

About twenty-five girls answered the advertisement, and several more called for Ryerson on the telephone, to be informed that no such person was stopping at the hotel.

The only occurrence of the morning which substantiates the belief that the advertisement was for the purpose of luring the girls, was when Miss Stella Clark of Emeryville was leaving the hotel, shortly after she had been informed that Ryerson was not known there.

Near the Harrison street entrance to the hotel a man wearing a gray overcoat and soft felt hat said to her, "Where are you going there, pretty young one?"

Miss Clark did not look back but kept on walking and when in the middle of the next block she turned and looked back to see the same man following her. She hurried across the street and walked down to Twelfth street and then back to the Hotel Oakland to intercept another girl who was to meet her on the corner at 2:30. She did not see the man again.

Up to a late hour today Ryerson had not appeared at the Hotel.

Women Suffer for Prank When Girls

Because his two nieces went into a dance hall once years ago where he had known liquor to have been sold, Charles A. Patterson, who died at his home at 1803 Grove street last fall, leaving a will disposing of a $5000 estate, gave Mrs. C. F. Munroe and Mrs. J. J. Nicholas the money, one $1000 each, to have a dance hall episode was years ago when the two women were school girls.

With the appearance of Robert H. Patterson, the dead man's brother, before E. C. Robinson today, with Arthur J. and Albert H. Patterson, and Mrs. Elizabeth Seaton, the other heirs to the estate, it was arranged so that each heir will share the estate equally.

Charity Ball Will Be Held at University for French Orphans

Harmon Gymnasium Will Be Scene of Entertainment
On March 20

BERKELEY, Feb. 18.—The first real charity ball ever held on the campus of the University of California has been set for Saturday evening, March 20, with Harmon gymnasium as the scene of festivities.

Sponsors for the ball are the combined French club of the University, taking this means of raising funds for the benefit of the fatherless children of France. Typically French in its setting, the tri-color of France will dominate in the decorations.

Entertainers from the Orphanum circuit will appear between dances. L. O. Grossman, president of the University French Club, is in charge of plans for the event, and has named the following committee to arrange for the dance: General chairman, Arthur Coe; arrangements, Miss Irene Tusch; patrons, Miss Thelma Thurner; reception, Miss Ruth Betzner; entertainment, L. M. Cassidy; publicity, Miss Evelyn Lewis; finance, L. O. Grossman; decorations, L. J. Pastorelli; refreshments, L. Zander.

About twenty-five girls answered the advertisement, and several more called for Ryerson on the telephone, to be informed that no such person was stopping at the hotel.

In reporting to the Council today Baccus said the matter is not properly before his department but should be handled by Commissioner Morse, to whom his suggestion for an abatement of the nuisance was finally referred.

Baccus informed the Council that a city ordinance prohibits the dumping of garbage and refuse in that particular section of the city and provides a penalty, but that it is impossible for the street department to place enough guards about the property.

Carrie Nation Aide Succumbs in Street

LONG BEACH, Feb. 18.—Mrs. Harriet Jane Thomas, 77 years old, who was a co-worker with the late Mrs. Carrie Nation in her campaign against saloons, and who traveled with Mrs. Nation for some years, dropped dead on the street here today. She lived in Los Angeles and was here to visit friends.

With the appearance of Robert H. Patterson, the dead man's brother, before E. C. Robinson today, with Arthur J. and Albert H. Patterson, and Mrs. Elizabeth Seaton, the other heirs to the estate, it was arranged so that each heir will share the estate equally.

SENTENCE IN PRISON GIVEN U. C. SPEEDER

BERKELEY, Feb. 18.—Sergeant Ralph Pidgeon of the Berkeley police department, driving a rate of speed of 70 o'clock last night saw a streak of light accompanied by the purring of a motor, dash by him.

He turned on the gas and followed the meteor-like object. At Ashby avenue he found William A. Garrett, law student at the University of California, heading over a stripped automobile.

"Come along," said the officer, and Garrett went.

In court this morning Pidgeon testified that Garrett's rate of speed approximated 50 miles an hour.

"He's mistaken, your honor," came the answer from the defendant. "I was only warming up my car to get her ready for today. I couldn't have been going more than 45 miles."

"It will take you longer to warm your car next time you see it," answered Judge Robert Edgar. "Five days in the county jail for you."

Garrett's sentence is the stiffest yet given a speeder by the Berkeley judge. Garrett is a junior student in the college of law and resides at 2315 Dwight way, Berkeley.

Illiteracy Offered In Defense of Suit

Declaring himself unable to read or write, and that he had no knowledge that there was a mortgage involved in a real estate transaction, Daniel Downey appeared before Judge T. W. Harris today to answer Antonio L. Ratto's suit to enforce an agreement involving a Castro Valley ranch. The documents showed that Downey had agreed to assume a mortgage of $4000 in a trade of other real property for the ranch. The case was continued until tomorrow.

Improvement Shown In Flu Situation

The influenza situation showed marked improvement today according to a statement issued by Secretary John H. Mellon of the local Health Department.

Yesterday's list of new cases totaled 93, with four deaths and three pneumonia deaths. Two additional deaths and 38 new cases up to noon today brought the total of cases up to 2548.

The Armour Leather Company has been organized under the Laws of the State of Delaware, and will acquire all of the tanning companies and leather assets now owned by Armour and Company at figures which do not include any value for good will. The gross volume of business in 1919 was approximately $20,000,000.

CAPITALIZATION

	To be immediately issued and outstanding	Authorized
7% Cumulative Preferred Stock ($100 par).....	$25,000,000	$10,000,000
Common Stock ($15 par).....	$15,000,000	$15,000,000
Founders' Stock (no par value).....	100,000	100,000

*$15,000,000 Common Stock is reserved to be offered to employees and customers of the Company.

**The Founders' Stock will be subscribed for and acquired by Armour and Company, who will pay $5 a share for same.

The Company will have no bonds outstanding and covenants not to permit the creation of any mortgages or liens upon the present property of either the Company or the companies whose stock the Company is about to acquire, without the consent of the holders of two-thirds in par value of the Preferred Stock outstanding at the time.

Net assets, based on valuations of November 1, 1919, will be $25,500,000, equal to $255 per share of Preferred Stock outstanding. Net quick assets will be $16,043,564, which is equal to $160 per share of Preferred Stock outstanding.

Additional Preferred Stock can only be issued to an amount equal to 75% of the cost of extensions, additions, betterments and improvements and of new property acquired, and then only provided earnings for a period of twelve months have been at least three times the amount required for dividends on all Preferred Stock outstanding and the new stock to be issued.

The Company agrees to maintain at all times, net assets equal to at least 200%, and net quick assets equal to at least 125% of the par value of all Preferred Stock outstanding.

Earnings available for dividends, after Federal taxes, during the last fiscal year were $6,195,824; average annual net earnings during the last four-year period were $4,485,215. Thus, net earnings for the last fiscal year were over eight times, and average earnings of the last four years were in excess of six times dividend requirements on present issue of Preferred Stock.

After preferred dividends, the remaining surplus earnings shall be available for dividends on the Common and Founders' Stock, in equal aggregate amounts. For a period of three years dividends on the Founders' Stock shall be limited if earnings are less than $4,000,000.

After providing for dividends on the Preferred Stock, the earnings for the last fiscal year were equivalent to 18.3% on the Common Stock (this after deducting an equal aggregate amount on the Founders' Stock), and the average annual net earnings during the four-year period were 12.6% on the Common Stock on the same basis.

The officers and directors of the Company will be principally those who have been engaged in the operation of the companies now being acquired, and who have in a large measure been responsible for their growth and development.

APPLICATION WILL BE MADE TO LIST BOTH THE PREFERRED AND COMMON STOCK ON THE CHICAGO STOCK EXCHANGE

All legal proceedings approved by Messrs. Mayer, Meyer, Austrian and Platt, Attorneys, Chicago; Balance Sheet and Earnings certified to by Price, Waterhouse & Co., Chicago; Appraisals made by American Appraisal Co., Milwaukee.

RAILS LEAD IN PRICE RECOVERY IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(Railroad) Stocks led the recovery in Wall Street today, with the leading issues advancing 1 to 2 points. Shares of the Southern Railway, the Chesapeake and Ohio, and the Pennsylvania Railroad, among others, were prominent.

PORTLAND.—The early setback proved of short duration, industrial stocks rallying easily when buying of rails was resumed. Additional gains for the first time in months transportation dominated the trading, both as to activity and extent of their advance. Oil was weak in favor of railway equipments followed the course set by rails. Losses of 1 to 2 points in General Motors, Chrysler Steel and affiliated issues were more than recovered and specialties also strengthened. Steadiness of foreign exchange and the 6 per cent renewal rate for call loans comprised the other encouraging features.

AFTERNOON.—Shorts were badly squeezed at midday when the advance embraced many speculative favorites. Recently under severe depression in addition to General Motors and Chrysler Steel, which made actual gains of the points each, various specialties rose 2 to 5 points over yesterday's figures.

CLOSING.—Highest prices of the session superceded calls in the less active final hour. The market was strong. Sales approximated 500,000 shares.

SODERBERG CRITICIZED
BY LEGION

Refusal by Commissioner Soderberg to grant the free use of the Municipal Auditorium to the Post of the American Legion for a recent costume ball to raise funds for the relief of the war victims, and the continuation of relief work for former service men, resulted in criticism of Soderberg at a meeting of the post last night in the auditorium.

In reporting on the results of the ball, Major William D. Barbee, chairman of the committee that handled the affair, called the attention of members to the action of Soderberg in demanding a fee of $100 for the use of the auditorium arena for the evening of February 22 by the former service men, while, according to Barbee, the free use of the hall has during the present month been given to three other organizations, with no service affiliations whatever.

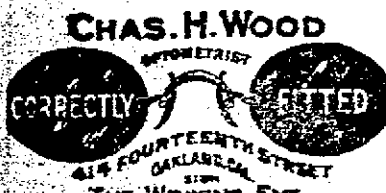

During the discussion that followed, Soderberg was condemned from the floor by Legion members with the result that it was decided that the fee should be paid, but that the payment should be accompanied by a written protest.

Action by the post against "Joel" Dempsey, heavyweight champion pugilist of the world, who is under investigation by the Federal authorities on a charge of having been a dueler during the recent war, was delayed last night pending the results of the Government investigation.

The side saddle was invented in the fourteenth century that Anne of Bohemia, who was deformed, might ride in comfort.

U. S. Girl Invents Wooden Shoe
French Government Turns Out

MISS ELIZABETH DANA, official cobbler of Smith College women's unit in France, who has come to Oakland to work in behalf of Americanization of foreigners.

Miss Elizabeth Dana, official cobbler of the first unit of young women who went overseas from Smith college, inventor of a wooden shoe which has been adopted by the French government, and one of the group who had in charge the 2000 during the war period, is now in Oakland, devoting herself to Americanization work in one of the night schools for foreigners. Miss Dana will be honored tomorrow afternoon at a tea which Smith college alumnae in the bay cities will give at the residence of Mrs. Frederick A. Warner, 2748 Dwight way, Berkeley as the first of a series of benefits which will contribute to the $50,000 quota which has been assigned Smith college women hereabouts in the employment fund.

Miss Dana learned the cobbler's trade before she volunteered for war service overseas. Her unit was assigned to Greece, near the front in the devastated region. There were no shoes to cobble. The people had long before adopted the wooden shoe. Nothing dismayed, Miss Dana became an expert in the repair of these boots. She later invented the wooden shoe which the French government has been manufacturing by thousands. The college unit numbered some fifteen or twenty girls, each of whom contributed by some trade or

IS HELD OUT
BY WILLSON

Although admitting that the existing rainfall shortage in California is "unprecedented and distinctly alarming," United States District Weather Observer George H. Willson said today he saw a measure of hope for agriculturists, utility corporations and others in the rainfall records for February, March and April for the past seventy years.

Willson did not minimize the seriousness of the situation, however, declaring that the water shortage problem has reached such an acute stage it should be a subject of concern for every individual who is interested in the quality and quantity of the state's drinking water supplies.

"The time has come for all individual water consumers voluntarily to aid in the conservation of water by restricting its use in watering lawns and gardens and in hosing off sidewalks and buildings," Willson said. "There are cases where water used for such purposes comes from private wells, but in most instances, it comes from public sources, and rapidly are depreciating both in quantity and quality."

According to weather bureau records the registered seasonal rainfall from July 1, 1910, to noon last March 1 day, is the lowest in California since 1851 when the seasonal rainfall was 5.15 inches.

The seasonal rainfall up to noon last Monday was 4.99 inches. In many instances the seasonal rainfall for a corresponding period of time in past years has ranged from 10 inches to 24.45 and 28 up to 35.35 inches in 1892 and 34.52 in 1890.

The year commencing July 1, 1851, showed no registration for that month; 0.02 for August; 1.03 inches for September; 0.21 inches for October; 2.12 inches for November; 7.10 inches for December, only .58 inches for January, and .24 for February, but the average was brought up considerably by a rainfall of 6.65 inches the next month, March.

Here are some of the years in which the March, April and May rainfall helped to bring the seasonal to par or better:

Season	March	April	May
1851-52	8.93	0.25	0.32
1859-60	8.99	3.14	0.58
1878-79	8.75	1.89	2.25
1883-84	8.24	6.33	0.23
1888-89	7.78	0.96	2.17
1890-91	8.73	1.18	1.07
1898-99	7.51	0.62	0.56
1902-03	6.23	0.56	T
1903-04	6.01	1.29	0.30
1908-09	6.42	2.11	0.64

Besides this there have been numerous years in which the late February rainfall was heavy, and hope of that has not yet disappeared. There was one February, for instance, in 1890, when it rained 12.45 inches.

Willson cited the following figures as indicating how the state, particularly the northern section, has suffered from lack of rain. They show the percentage of seasonal normal rainfall to date:

Eureka 31, Red Bluff 25, Sacramento 28, Mount Tamalpais 59, San Francisco 34, San Jose 22, Fresno 41, San Luis Obispo 55, Los Angeles 57, San Diego 55.

"ACACIA PATH" GIVES WAY TO SYCAMORE ROW

BERKELEY, Feb. 18.—The famous Acacia path of the University of California leading from the football stadium to California hall has given way to Sycamore row.

In line with the Phoebe A. Hearst plan for beautifying the university, the spreading acacia trees with their burden of golden bloom have been eliminated. The sycamore trees are similar to those bordering paths near the Campanile and are called for in the Hearst Greater University plan. Protests in behalf of graduates of the university who remember Acacia path as one of the beauty spots of the campus have brought an explanation as to reasons for the change from the university.

THIEF FLEES
PISTOL FIRE
IN PIEDMONT

PIEDMONT, Feb. 18.—Emptying his six-shooter twice as he pursued his man for four blocks through the exclusive residential section of upper Piedmont near Glen Alpine road and Solola avenue, Patrolman J. L. Davis early this morning frustrated what is believed to have been an attempt to break into and rob the $500,000 residence of Dr. Robert Dunn on Glen Alpine road.

Davis was patrolling his beat at one o'clock this morning when he noticed a man prowling in the shadow of a tree near a window of the Dunn home. When the man saw the officer he started to run across the lawn, continuing after commanded to halt by Davis.

Down Glen Alpine road the man ran, followed closely by Davis, who fired twelve shots in the direction of the fleeing man in an effort to stop him.

Four long blocks were traversed in the chase before the would-be burglar succeeded in losing the policeman by running into the wooded hills of the upper part of Trestle Glen or Indian Gulch.

A party from the Piedmont police department frantically searched in the upper Indian Gulch canyon this morning, looking for a possible trail of blood which might have marked the path of the man, Davis being sure that one of his shots took effect.

Oakland Venus Cafe

Superior Judge E. C. Robinson today granted an injunction in favor of the Venus cafe in Oakland preventing the proprietors of the Venus restaurant in Berkeley from continuing use of the name.

Attorney Earl J. Sinclair, representing the defendant, declared there was no competition between the two, but Judge Robinson said the statutes forced him to grant the plea.

CENSORSHIP OF
NEWS CHARGED
BY U. C. PAPER

BERKELEY, Feb. 18.—A censorship of news which he declares exists on the campus is attacked this morning by Norman Gallison, editor of the Daily Californian, student paper at the University of California.

In an editorial headed "The Fight for News," Gallison declares that university professors are afraid to see in print what they say in their class. Previously the Californian printed reports from Professors Thomas H. Reed and Ira B. Cross that their lectures be not quoted in the student paper. Further censorship on other campus news is declared to have increased attention to today's action.

PHONE GIRLS ORGANIZE; TO

Action of 250 long distance operators in San Francisco in forming an association as employees of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and in stating their intention to remain at work is believed by the company officials to have removed the last chance for even a partial break in company service.

The girls, following the move of the operators on the local exchanges, perfected their association, named their officers, and then informed the company of what they had done.

Conflicting statements regarding the effectiveness of the strike continue to be issued. The figures of the electrical workers that 1500 of a possible 2000 men are out are denied by the company statement that, except in a few cities, the strike has not had noticeable effects.
